Flames were particularly destructive near the mouth of the Montreal river where two power plants of the Ironwood and Bessemer Railroad and Light company, are located. Near Saxon, Kimball and Odenach the fire is raging so that trains were forced to make a round trip to reach Hurley and Ironwood from Ashland.

Smith Center, Kansas, Oct. 14.—Gambling in grain future will be prohibited if a bill drafted by Senator Arthur Capper passes the next congress. PRICES WILL SOAR PREDICT GRAIN MEN

IF DEMANDS OF FARMERS FOR CREDIT EXPANSION IS GRANTED

(United Press)
Chicago, Oct. 14.—That prices of necessities will soar to a new high figure if favorable government action is taken on demands of farmers in Washington for lowering federal reserve board rediscount rates and expansion of credit, was predicted by grain men here today.

"If the government acts favorably on the farmers' demands, it would mean high prices again," said H. Jackson, member of the Jackson grain firm.

"But the result would mean a disaster. It would check the present price decline. What farmers are after is to get the government to fix the price for wheat. If this happens prices would rise and the radicals throughout the country would grow in strength as a result."

Houston Rejects Farmers' Proposals
Washington, Oct. 14.—Secretary of the Treasury Houston today rejected the demands of farmers for the revival of a war financing corporation to finance exports of American farm organizations.

Houston also reiterated to the farmers that the treasury has no money to lend to persons who may wish to hold their products for higher prices. "The war finance corporation proposal," Houston said, "would amount to this government loaning money to Germany and other nations in central Europe with which to buy American farm produce."

"The government is not prepared," he said, "to go into the banking business except as collateral for federal, state or municipal bonds of Germany."

Minneapolis, Oct. 14.—Grain dealers are in entire accord with farmers and their demands for lower rediscount rates, a federal reserve system and more liberal credit to farmers for production purposes.

COX ON STUMPING CAMPAIGN IN OHIO

SAYS THE ELECTION IS A REFER-ENDUM ON WILSON
LEAGUE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Enroute With Governor James M. Cox, Vanwert, Ohio, Oct. 14.—Asserting the presidential election will be a referendum on the league of nations, Governor Cox in opening a three day stumping campaign in Ohio, today declared that his election would be "a mandate from the people to the senate to ratify the treaty and that for them to do otherwise would be unthinkable."

His statement was in reply to the claim of Ex-President Taft that even if the democrats elected all their senatorial candidates, they would not have enough to carry the league. "This statement of Mr. Taft," said Cox, "can only mean one thing, that when I am elected on a straight-forward platform favoring the league of nations, it is the purpose of the brazen leaders in the senate to treat the mandate of the people with contempt and turn their backs on the peoples' will. This, in the first place, is unthinkable, and in the second place, will not be permitted, for the will of the people will triumph."

SENATOR GLASS ATTACKS REPUBLICAN TAXATION POLICY

(United Press)
Washington, Oct. 14.—An attack on the taxation policy of republicans and on Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, was made by Senator Glass of Virginia, in a statement at the White House. Glass was formerly secretary of the treasury. Referring to a recent statement by Penrose that taxes would be reduced by a republican administration, Glass said:

"The people should clearly and constantly understand that even Senator Penrose, much less the impotent congress, cannot lighten the burden of taxation at this congress or next or any succeeding congress if the various schemes for monstrous expenditures such as indiscriminating bonuses and other projects proposed by republican leaders and actually passed by the republican house and put into effect by the administration."

Senator Glass declared the republican party had absolutely failed to keep their promise made two years ago to reduce taxes.

Symbol of Holy Roman Empire.

The double-headed eagle of the Holy Roman empire was sometimes crowned and sometimes bore the nimbus upon it. The dual heads represented dominion over the east and the west and came to be used in the coat of arms of both Austria and Russia.

Concerning Whiskers.

"The effect of whiskers," said Jud Tunkins, "depends on who happens to be wearing them. On a regular man they look like whiskers, but on some people they look like summer furs."

But What "For Short?"

Zulus have a custom of naming a child from some event that occurred at the time when the child was born. Not long ago a child at Natal was brought to the registry on a day when a strike had interrupted traffic on the railroad. He was given the name "Umhlabele-gubeyinbelatimela," meaning, "When the white men stopped the train." What do you suppose they ever called this boy "for short?"

The X-Ray and Chiropractic

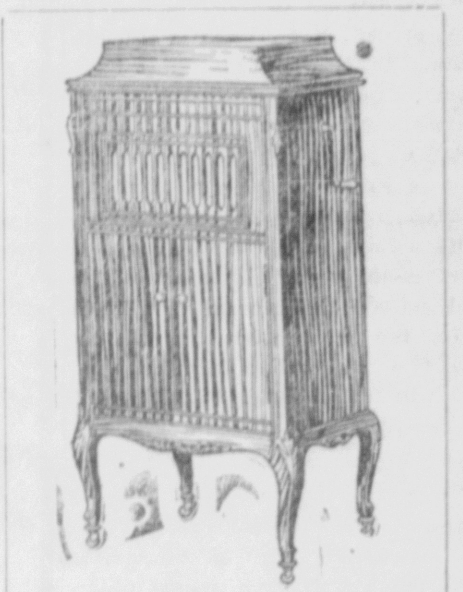

The Chiropractor spends month after month for three years perfecting the sense of touch in his fingers so that he may correctly ascertain the location of each spinal segment in the patient's back. Even with his adeptness at locating these misaligned or subluxated vertebrae he is sometimes baffled; and to prove conclusively to himself that he is absolutely correct in his findings, he resorts to the X-ray. By taking a radiographic picture of the patient's spine, he is not only enabled to actually see the exact conditions as they exist, but he is also able to show the patient that condition.

THE GROSS EARNINGS TAX
AMENDMENT NO. 4.

The gross earnings tax amendment comes up for ratification at the November election. In order that it may become part of the law it is necessary for a majority of the electors voting at that election to cast their ballots in its favor. The greatest danger lies, not in opposition to the measure, but in a lack of interest, and a consequent failure to vote upon the proposition at all.

For a long time past the cities and villages of this state have been in great need of this change in the law. Is it fair and just that the railroads, whose property within the limits of the municipality increases in value as the city makes improvements adjacent to that property, shall be exempt from paying their share of the assessments? Yet under the law as it now stands this is the case. And it is not a change which the legislature alone can enact, but one which, under the constitution, must be ratified by a MAJORITY OF THE VOTERS VOTING AT THE GENERAL ELECTION.

In November we are going to elect a president of the United States. This always means that an unusually large vote will be polled. And the larger the total vote polled, the larger the number of votes it will take to constitute a MAJORITY OF THOSE VOTING AT THE ELECTION.

Besides this there are a number of other important measures to be brought before the people for direct decision at the same election. Among these is the Babcock road amendment which has called forth wide discussion and expression of opinion. It will not do to allow the gross earnings tax amendment to be submerged in the contest.

The present inequitable situation in which Brainerd is placed is very evident. Under the present law we are unable to pave Front street, Main street, and those streets connecting Main and Front, because we are not permitted to compel the railroad to pay its portion of the cost. There is no provision of our charter which would permit the general public to pay for the same even though they should be willing to do so. The passage of "Amendment No. 4" would make such paying possible and the railroad would be required to pay its proper share.

Not only would the railroad be compelled to pay its share of the paving assessment but also its proper share of assessments for laying water mains, sewers and other improvements paid by assessments.

It is not only the city that suffers the handicap but also the rural districts. Ditch and drainage projects are frequently held up because no special assessments can be levied against the railroads. The gross earnings tax amendment is as much needed by the country districts as by cities.

The coming election offers an opportunity to rectify this defect in the law. And it is eminently essential to the welfare of the municipalities and rural communities of Minnesota that we vote for the gross earnings tax amendment.

CONSCRIPTING LABOR

Nationalization of industry, first tested in Russia, was first advocated in Germany. It has been an ideal of the German socialists for decades. It isn't any more.

Karl Kautsky and Edward Bernstein, prominent among German socialist leaders today, are fighting tooth and nail against the nationalization of the coal mines, and they appear to be winning the members of their political party and the adherents of their economic faith to their point of view.

Why? Because the German republic is learning that if it is to exercise the paternal care over German industries which it desires, it must conscript labor. Nothing else. And conscription of anything is unpopular in Germany just now.

Under the socialist control of the past two years Germany's experience in production has been distinctly disappointing. Germany's economic and industrial woes have been far more grievous than those of France or Italy, both of which were harder hit by war's disruption. The fact is that the German people aren't working as steadily as might be desired and the government is casting about for a remedy. The Bulgarian government has conscripted men for a period of one year women for six months in order to get things started. The Germans protest that they will do nothing so drastic, but they admit that some action along this line is imperative.

The government expects to operate its own coal mines, for instance. Employment under government conditions is hardly likely to prove attractive to any man. It is not to be wondered at that the socialists hold back. For, whatever its faults, the capitalistic system offers some tremendous advantage to the worker. Under it each and every one, man or woman, can choose his work and his employer, and can quit and go elsewhere if he does not like his job. If he is to earn, he must produce something that some one wants to buy, and must compete with all other workers in the same field. His reward depends upon his success as a producer.

There is real democracy in this, based upon private ownership, competition, individual effort, individual responsibility and individual preference. It makes life worth living. Perhaps a few months of nationalization of industry and conscription of labor will show the German socialists where they are heading.

Is it too much to hope that the American radicals who clamor for direct action will learn from their comrades' experience?

PREUS, COLLINS SPOKE IN CITY

Republican Candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor Make Favorable Impression

COOPERATIVE MARKETING PLAN

Favored by Preus, Improvements in Workmen's Compensation Laws,
Tax Exemptions Changed

Wednesday was the wettest, muddiest and rawest day since political campaigning began but to Jake Preus and Louis L. Collins, Republican candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, it was in many respects the most successful and remarkable day they have experienced since taking to the road nearly two weeks ago.

Sudden illness in his family had called their chauffeur to Minneapolis but a thing like that didn't daunt the gubernatorial candidate. Scorning all offers of assistance, he took the wheel of the car at Long Prairie and staged one of the greatest rides since the night that Paul Revere mounted his trusty nag in Boston and stirred up the farmers along the line of march.

Preus as Chauffeur

Chauffeur Preus slid and skidded across four counties, addressed four of the finest meetings of the season and arrived in Brainerd to receive with his little running mate a reception that made the adventures of the day mere bagatelles. Rain fell all day and the roads became so impassable by the time that Staples was reached that the car was abandoned and the trip to Crow Wing county's capital was made by rail.

At the Ramsford hotel they were met with a dinner, attended by 75 men and women and presided over by R. R. Wise. During mess they were serenaded by the Brainerd municipal band and Jake started when he read on the bass drum, "The N. P. Band." He was advised, however, that the "N. P." signified "Northern Pacific" and he finished his meal with ease.

At Gardner Hall

The night meeting, held in Gardner hall, was presided over by C. A. Albright, county chairman. Every seat was taken when the meeting began and the audience was made up of large numbers of union men. Mr. Preus devoted a good part of his talk to reforms in the state labor laws, with especial reference to improving the workmen's compensation statute.

"The time it now takes for an injured workman to secure his money under the compensation acts should be as brief as possible," Mr. Preus said.

Workmen's Compensation

"When I was insurance commissioner of this state I advocated the creation of a commission which would have the power to fix the compensation to be paid an injured workman. The law as it now stands provides that claims for injuries must be adjudicated by the courts. Several judges have frequently suggested to me that the law be changed so that a commission could expedite the payment of these claims. Such a commission would be better equipped and informed as to what would be just payment in each individual case. The scope of the compensation act should be broadened in some particulars, as for instance, in case of lead poisoning and similar industrial diseases," Mr. Preus also went on record as favoring certain tax exemptions.

Tax Exemptions

"Tax exemptions, if there be any further in Minnesota," he said, "should be for the benefit of the small property-owner and this exemption should be put at such a figure as to be commensurate with the present property values."

At Eagle Bend

The first stop today was at Eagle Bend, under the direction of E. V. Moore where the village hall was packed. Farmers came for miles around despite the rain and the mud. Attendance records were similar at Bertha, where every business house in town was closed for a midday meeting. There they were greeted by Sen. James Johnson and Dr. W. W. Will. After this gathering there was no time for lunch and the party ploughed its way to Staples. The band from Motley was on hand in the rain and heading the welcoming committee was Rev. W. H. Johnson, commander of the American Legion post. After that meeting the candidates boarded a 6:15 train for Brainerd.

On Range Thursday

Headed by a half dozen cars from Brainerd, Preus and Collins Thursday resumed their campaign with their first stop at Riverton, on the Cuyuna range. Collins here took on

FAME

The heights of great men reached and kept

Were not attained by sudden flight, But they, while their companions slept,

Were toiling upward in the night.

—Longfellow.

This same spirit is shown by fifty-five Brainerd home-owners who have bought 299 large garden lots of P. B. Nettleton during the past four years and built cozy cottages thereon, doing most of the work themselves outside of their usual working hours. They toiled early and late "while their companions slept," but look at what they have achieved.

They now own their homes with ample grounds and raise most of their own food, saving their wages to pay for these homes and gardens.

Mr. Nettleton has a few houses and nice large lots left which he expects to sell during the next thirty days on his usual easy terms and low prices. Of course, those who come first, have first choice. He has a few good large 50x140-foot lots, further out, for $65 and $75, some closer in $100 and $125, as nice home and residence lots as there are in the city. Look in at his show windows and see some of the products of his large liberty lots—a 62½ pound squash and 2½ pound rutabaga. Turnips are among them.

casion to warn the voters against the quiet organization work of the Non-partisan league among the women and urged that steps be taken to counteract this activity.

"In the spring campaign" Collins said, "the Nonpartisans indulged in pyrotechnics. Now they have dropped the pyrotechnics and are trying a gumshoe campaign. In one county with 24 townships the Nonpartisan women now have 47 organizations. This shows how successful are their methods and if the women who do not believe in Townleyism do not get busy immediately Townley's candidates may be successful at the election. Get out and fight back you women who are opposed to Townley."

From Riveron the party moved to Ironton for a noon meeting. Afternoon meetings at Crosby and Deerwood also are scheduled today. At Deerwood the candidates will be met by a delegation from Aitkin where a meeting will be held late in the afternoon. All business houses will close for the occasion. The night meeting will be held at McGregor. The candidates will return to Brainerd for the night.

Agricultural Basic Industry
"The platform adopted by the republican national convention of June 8, 1920, declared that 'the farmer is the backbone of the nation, that farming is the basic industry of this nation, has always been recognized and asserted by the republican party.' That it is the basic industry of the state of Minnesota was recognized at the republican convention in St. Paul, May 8, 1920," said Mr. Preus in his address at Brainerd.

Few states have the agricultural possibilities of Minnesota. There are no waste lands here.

Remedy for Profitsteering
"There is perhaps not a farmer in Minnesota today who is not dissatisfied over the difference in the price which he receives for his raw material and that which the consumer pays for the finished product made therefrom."

There are too many middlemen getting too much for their services. "If the farmer could be enabled to make the same profits on farm produce as the middleman, profiteering would cease."

"Cooperative enterprises, controlled exclusively by farmers, offer the best remedy to improve marketing conditions."

State Ownership
"State ownership would take away the authority from the individual and place it in the hands of the state. The farmer's business would become political," said Mr. Preus.

The nonpartisans proposed putting a mortgage on Minnesota and having the state build and operate local elevators and warehouses, terminal elevators and warehouses, picking plants etc.

Farmers Would Not Control
As there are 68 per cent of Minnesotans in the cities and 32 per cent on the farm, the farmers under state ownership would not have complete control over their industry. The laborer is interested in good wages and reasonable prices for commodities. Labor would tend to keep down the price of farm products. An alliance between farmers and city workers is an unnatural one owing to diverse interests.

Manufacturing Program
As governor, said Mr. Preus, he would not relish the job of running a manufacturing program as state ownership planned. He would either have to be business manager of the undertaking with power to hire or fire employees, or the civil service would rule. Under civil service workers were interested in the perpetuity of their jobs, in highest wages and shortest hours.

The state of Minnesota would enter into competition with the brightest

A Socialist Scheme
The state ownership of factories is a socialist scheme. Any one who owns property and makes money out of it is a capitalist. You are a capitalist if you have a dollar working for you.

Socialism in Russia
Socialism in Russia has done away entirely with private ownership of factories, mines, of farms and the cattle on them. There is no private property in Russia. Churches have been closed. Marriage and divorce have been made easy, and the sanctity of the marriage ceremony destroyed. There is no life insurance in Russia. There is no incentive for individual effort.

Cooperative Method Contrasted
"I think the farmers of Minnesota believe in the cooperative method which has already done so much for them contrasted with the state owned method which if once applied to farm products will steadily grow and expand to embrace the complete program of what is known as socialism, will confiscate all property which is held for gain whether it be stocks, bonds, mines, or farms, that they may be operated for the benefit of all our people and ultimately destroy the independence, liberty and private property of the greatest rural civilization known in the world's history that which is found in the United States today," said Mr. Preus.

The government of the United States has given more happiness to the world than any other. The right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness should be maintained and the ideals of American government perpetuated, said Mr. Preus.

Corporal Collins
Corporal Collins, candidate for Lieutenant governor, exposed the non-partisan candidates in the primaries who had sworn they were republicans, who were defeated and who have now fled as independents. Their insincerity was not bounded by state lines. In Colorado and Montana the nonpartisans fled as socialists. They are political opportunists.

The fight in this campaign was between Preus and the nonpartisans. Larry Hodgson on the democratic ticket had little show.

"Jake Preus," said Corporal Collins, "is 100 per cent American and gets his inspiration from the constitution and not from Carl Marx."

through Administration influences.

He was exempted.

The local draft board of Butler County, O., rejected his plea and held that there was no valid claim for his exemption and that he should surely don a uniform and shoulder arms, but Secretary of War Baker's law partner, Tom Sidlo, was employed to save the youthful slacker. Governor Cox took a hand in the case, and finally, by White House decree, he went scot free.

His multi-millionaire father, E. W. Scripps, controlling owner of the Scripps League of Newspapers and the Newspaper Enterprise Association, a powerful combination, threatened to overthrow the Administration rather than permit either of his sons to answer the call of Uncle Sam.

Administration Exempts Slacker.
Having helped to re-elect Woodrow Wilson President on the issue, "He kept us out of war," the elder Scripps demanded that his son be kept out of war. And the Administration kept them out.

Young Robert Scripps, who had never done any real newspaper work, was given the title of Assistant to the Pub-

Fordson

TRADE MARK

Farm Tractor

The Fordson cuts the cost of preparing land almost to half of what it cost with horses. But even more important is the fact that the Fordson saves from thirty to fifty per cent of the farmer's time. And time saved—getting fields in shape to plant in the proper season; getting things done when they should be done—means money to the farmer. Besides it helps greatly in solving the labor problem.

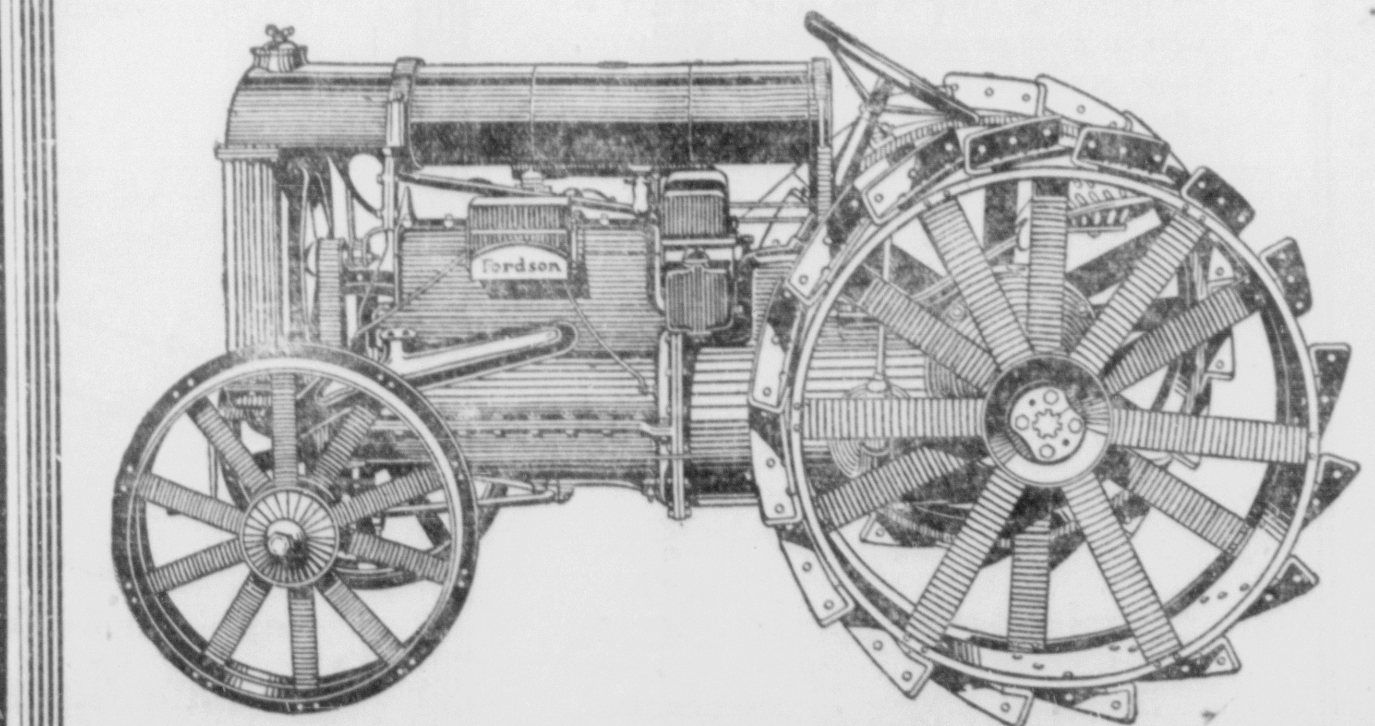

As ever, the machine way is proving more efficient, easier than the old hand way. In the factory, the machine increases production, saves labor—produces more at less cost. And that is what the Fordson does on the farm. The Fordson way is the machine way of farming. Besides it helps the labor problem.

The Fordson first cost is low; and the after or operating cost is low. It is a compact, easily handled tractor, backed by the greatest tractor service organization in the world.

We are Fordson dealers. Not only do we sell Fordson tractors, but we carry a stock of Fordson parts and employ Fordson mechanics to help the farmers get the best results from the Fordson. Let us demonstrate the Fordson on your own farm.

The answer gaining 185 "Points" (which is the maximum) will win the FORD Sedan, or $800 in cash. Second highest will win a $200 phonograph, and an on down the list at 25 prize. In case of a tie, both winners will receive same prize.
